Q: Issue with lists and sublists in Python? I just started working with python and i'm somewhat new to programming. I have a problem in this script, i have a list like a = ['a','b','c'], and i want to print all the sublists with length of 3 a = ['a','b','c','d','e','f','g','h','i'] #function for i in a: if len(a)==3: print(a[i]) Expected output: ['a','b','c'] ['d','e','f'] ['g','h','i'] However the output is a combination of all the sublists together, it's: a b c d e f g h i A: This is an example of the elegance of the enhanced for loop: a = ['a','b','c','d','e','f','g','h','i'] for i,x in enumerate(a): print(a[i:i+3]) Output: ['a', 'b', 'c'] ['d', 'e', 'f'] ['g', 'h', 'i'] or (which avoids an index error with strings): for i,x in enumerate(a[:3]): print(a[i]) Output: a b c Note that this will not work with your original list because of the use of enumerate. 1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to a novel catalyzt composition useful for hydrogenating aromatic hydrocarbon, such as benzoic acid, to the corresponding aromatic esters. 2. Description of the Prior Art Numerous prior art processes exist for the preparation of aromatic esters. It is known that the preparation of the aromatic ester from the corresponding aromatic acid with alcohol can be accomplished by various chemical processes. The most common prior art processes to prepare aromatic esters involve the reaction of aromatic acids with alcohol in the presence of an acid catalyzt. When the aromatic acid is benzoic acid, the products of the reaction are benzyl alcohol and benzoic acid. U.S. Pat. No. 3,298,801 discl

Kinesthetic involvement in the perception of melody. This study provides behavioral and physiological evidence for a role of kinesthetic experience in recognizing and processing complex musical structures. The subjects of the study were professional string players, pianists, and an amateur pianist who lacked music training. All subjects were able to recognize and produce contour sequences of variable length. No significant differences were found between the performances of the professional string players and the amateurs. However, the performances of the three musician groups were significantly better than chance. After performance of each contour sequence, subjects were asked to reproduce it while blindfolded, thus freeing their kinesthetic awareness from the musical context. No significant differences were found between the performances of the professional string players and the amateurs. The performance of the three musician groups was again significantly better than chance. These findings suggest that kinesthetic experience is important in the perceptual processing of contour sequences.If you don't know how it works, you should. Also similar to a Ponzi scheme is that it depends on new investors to "give back" to previous investors in order to make money. The purpose of PSA's are to create money that isn't really money and they don't care. They use short-cuts (earlier promises) and they pay their investors (new investors) no interest, or they just keep their own. Do you need to know how it works? I told you it is illegal for a reason. It is a scam. It is a form of fraud because what they are doing is illegal and it has potential to defraud both. It is a security because, like any other investment, they depend on new investors to come in to maintain the pyramid. If you don't know how it works, you should.
